

As summer starts, it is hard to believe that another yearly cycle of CAEP work is over. I am always struck by reflecting on the number of initiatives that have taken place over the last 12 months.

All this work is done by CAEP members who volunteer countless hours and share their knowledge and experience with other members. This can be seen through our tireless advocacy and how highly CAEP is regarded in speaking to the issues facing emergency medicine in Canada. From coast to coast to coast, CAEP has built a solid group of physicians who have made time to ensure that CAEP is the national voice of emergency medicine.

The EM:POWER Report continues to provide a path in the journey ahead and the CAEP Board has built a new strategic plan around this important work.

Our CAEP Committees continue to make progress in each of their areas of focus and new members are actively joining!

All of these initiatives and more ensure that CAEP not only remains as the national voice of emergency medicine but also a community where colleagues can reach out to each other and learn and grow from each other. That is the true spirit of CAEP – it is a welcoming network of diversity and support for our members.

As always, I am honoured to work with all of you and I wish you a safe and happy summer!

Best wishes,
Lynn Garrow
CAEP Executive Director
